California Girl Again Tennis Champion

HELEN TOO FAST FOR VETERAN

Miss Wills Defeats Mrs. Mallory In Straight Sets, 6-1, 6-0

HUGE CROWD SEES BITTER STRUGGLE

Champion Puts Up Smashing Game to Retain American Title

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WEST SIDE TENNIS COURTS, FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 16.—With a demonstration of tennis that was close to perfection, Miss Helen Wills, the 18-year-old national and Olympic champion, retained her title as "queen of the American courts" here this afternoon when she ran away from Mrs. Molla Mallory in the final round for the championship and won in straight sets at 6-1, 6-3.

At no time from the time the young California girl walked demurely to her place on the field was there a question of the winner. In all her long career Mrs. Mallory never had seen such tennis. Never before, even against the famous Mlle Lenglen, had the former champion looked across the net at an opponent so unperfected in all her strokes, so cool and confident from stroke to stroke.

The form shown by the California girl aroused to a frenzy the enthusiasm of the gallery of nine thousand that while strongly partisan for her, was ready to acclaim the great fighting heart of Mrs. Mallory.

At no time did Mrs. Mallory give up. She fought with the most admirable courage.

The stout heart of the former Norwegian girl asserted itself in the second set when she rallied with the score 5-1 against her and won two games.

Miss Wills, who was reported to have been indisposed, took it very easy throughout, and her game was so good that she did not have to exert herself.

Summoning all her failing physical resources, Miss Wills fought off a sensational rally by Mrs. Mallory and won the second set at 6-3.

Out of Position. Miss Wills started serving and won the first point when she caught Mrs. Mallory out of position with a powerful base line drive. The champion then won the first game at love on nets.

With a fast placement and her opponent's net errors, Miss Wills broke through service and won the second game, losing two points on nets. The young champion fell into errors in the third game and lost her service.

Driving successfully at the deep backhand corner, Miss Wills broke through service and won the fourth game, taking lead at 3-1.

Sets Fast Pace. Smashing over her service with such tremendous pace that Mrs. Mallory could not handle it, Miss Wills won the fifth game. Miss Wills was playing with ease and perfect poise. She seemed completely confident as she crashed through and won the sixth game.

The stout fighting heart of Mrs. Mallory urged her to a great fight in the seventh game which she carried to deuce five times but she lost the game and set on a beautiful placement and a drive into the net.

British Flyer To Try Again If U. S. Fails

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Aug. 16.—"I will be ready to try another flight around the world next year—if the Americans can't make it," Major Stuart MacLaren, British airman, declared on his arrival in Prince Rupert today.

"If the American make it, of course it will be a dead issue."

Thus did the British flyer display the fact that he was undaunted by the defeat which he suffered from the Arctic elements when his plane was wrecked at sea off the Kamchatka peninsula.

At the same time he shoved the money through the bars, Wiley pressed a button of an electric alarm system. Officers hurried to the door and caught Harwood just as he was about to leave. The bandit was alone and wore a false moustache.

STATE EXPERTS FACE ATTACK BY DARROW

(By United Press Leased Wire)
CRIMINAL COURTROOM, Chicago, Aug. 16.—Chief Defense Attorney Clarence Darrow indicated today that he would demand most of the state's medical evidence be stricken from the records of the Leopold-Loeb murder hearing on the ground that the youthful slayers were examined under compulsion.

While cross examining Dr. Harold D. Singer, state alienist, Darrow brought out that the youths were questioned under the direction of state attorney Robert E. Crowe despite the fact that the boys had been taken from Crowe's custody and placed in that of the sheriff.

Several squabbles between Darrow and Crowe occurred during the first few moments of the session. Darrow charged that Crowe had violated the constitutional rights of the boys by bringing them to answer under compulsion. "I did not compel them to talk," cried Crowe. "Once they started talking it was hard to stop them; they just wanted to show how smart they were."

Darrow then brought out that the boys had refused to answer practically all questions asked by Dr. Singer, stating they refused to talk on the advice of counsel.

S. A. TO HAVE UP-TO-DATE BALL PARK

Junior C. of C. Takes Lease On 10-Acre Tract—Big Leaguers May Come

Directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce here today announced that Santa Ana will have a 10 acre baseball park with two large grandstands. At the same time it was disclosed that the proposed grounds would be used as training quarters for big league teams.

Meanwhile plans are under way for organization in Santa Ana one of the strongest teams in the Southwest. Negotiations are under way to obtain for the local team George Blaeholder, Western league pitcher who now is the property of the St. Louis "Browns." "Ernie" Johnson, utility shortstop of the New York "Yankees" is being induced to play for Santa Ana when he comes west to "winter" here, it was announced. Several other nationally known players are being urged to play on the team, and the best local talent also is being "signed up."

Those in charge of the plans for organizing the Santa Ana club are Hal W. McCollough, owner of the Santa Ana Commercial company's baseball club which George Lackaye piloted to the championship of Orange county, and Ed Vegley and Vic Walker, prominent local sportsmen.

A contract was signed this morning, by Mrs. Aline Hinz of 701 South Ross street, owner of the site for the ball park, and Carl Mock, representing the Junior Chamber. The agreement calls for leasing the 10 acres to the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, and it was announced that the lease would be signed at Monday night's regular meeting of the Juniors.

The baseball park will be situated on the Delhi road 800 feet east of Main street, where it will be easily accessible to automobiles and bus lines. A large space for automobile parking purposes will be provided. Water for showers and drinking purposes as well as gas and electricity for concessions are available at the park.

McCollough today stated he was moving a large quantity of lumber to the site for the erection of two large grandstands. One of these, he said, will have a roof and the other will be the popular "bleachers."

Financial Plan. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Junior Chamber it was decided that the young men's organization would take charge of an advance sale of season tickets to provide additional funds for rushing the baseball park to completion.

It was disclosed at the directors' meeting that certain "big league" teams were seeking training quarters in Santa Ana, and such quarters will be available when the new park is completed.

The opinion was expressed by Junior directors that the Santa Ana club would operate independently and would join no league. It was suggested that out of respect to persons who object to Sunday baseball, games would be scheduled for Saturday afternoons, but if these failed to attract sufficient patronage most of the "big" games would be played Sundays.

The Junior Chamber will offer a season ticket to the person who submits the best name for the new local baseball club. Details of the name contest will be announced after Monday night's meeting of the Chamber.

BANDIT GANG ROBS TRAIN IN MEXICO

Twenty Passengers Slain As Armed Guard Battle Against Big Odds

(By United Press Leased Wire)
MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16.—Upwards of 100 bandits held up a Vera Cruz train near San Salvador late yesterday, derailed it, wrecking the locomotive and two coaches and then turned a deadly rifle fire into the cars.

Some twenty passengers on the train were killed, according to first reports of the attack received here. The bandit rebels were said to have been under the command of General Guadalupe Sanchez. The scene of the holdup is about 40 kilometers from Jalapa.

In addition to the number killed, which included two soldiers of the armed escort of the train, several Germans and Mexicans, nearly a score more were wounded. Three Germans were numbered among the wounded.

Some of the passengers, though wounded aided the soldiers in their unsuccessful fight to beat off the bandits. When they had killed, wounded or disarmed all of the passengers, the bandits turned to looting the train. All passengers were robbed, even women and children being searched for money and valuables.

The train was wrecked by obstacles being placed across the track. When the engine struck the obstruction, it left the rails and turned over with two of the coaches.

LAUNCH THIRD PARTY DRIVE IN PORTLAND

(By United Press Leased Wire)
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 16.—Asailing the Republican and Democratic parties for "promoting the power of special privilege," Senator Henrik Shipstead, Minnesota, opened the national campaign for La Follette and Wheeler.

Senator Shipstead's speech in the municipal auditorium here last night was the first stroke in the independent campaign as organized by the La Follette committee.

"Government by injunction," in labor disputes, he said, "had replaced government by law for the working man."

He pointed out that La Follette's platform was opposed to the system of court procedure in connection with the use of the injunction. Senator Shipstead also attacked the power of the courts to punish for contempt without a jury trial.

INVALID WOMAN AIDS MATE IN LOVE TANGLE

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN RAFAEL, Cal., Aug. 16.—An invalid wife who condoned the marriage of her husband, Marius Miller, to Mrs. Delphine Schuller, her nurse, today had secured the freedom of Mrs. Miller number two and happiness once more is a guest at the Miller home.

"A man can't sit beside a sick bed forever," Mrs. Miller maintains, and can see no reason why the world should condemn her husband because he yielded to the love he felt for his wife's pretty nurse and married her. Mrs. Schuller was held in the detention home until Mrs. Miller secured her release.

Miller claims he was drunk when he and Mrs. Schuller a week ago today went to Santa Rosa, procured a license and were married.

"I loved Mrs. Schuller—my wife knew that—but we hadn't intended to marry until I was free to do so. We all knew my wife could not live long. She knew it better than anyone else. But if I hadn't been drunk I would never have done this," Miller said.

Miller, a contractor, is free on bond and today was back at work on the "model bungalow" he is preparing for wife number two when she becomes wife number one.

LONG BATTLE NEAR CLOSE IN EUROPE

Plan Calls For Complete Evacuation of Ruhr District Within Year

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LONDON, Aug. 16.—At a plenary conference of the allied and German representatives tonight, protocols, putting into operation the Dawes report on means of paying reparations were signed.

The session was called at the close of a day devoted to feverish conferences, ironing out the few remaining obstacles to ending at last the five-year struggle for a basis upon which the Allies might collect their war bills from Germany.

Under the terms of the protocol which constitutes what will be known as the "Pact of London," France and Belgium agree to completely evacuate the Ruhr within one year from date.

Announcement of the plenary session was made after the German representatives finally had capitulated and accepted Premier Herriot's French proposal that evacuation of the Ruhr occur within one year.

With signatures and initials affixed to the several protocols, the conference officially completed its task. There now remains legislation of approval to be passed by the parliaments of the Allied powers and Germany—and the reparations question, which has been the issue of many cabinets and has resulted in the fall of not a few, will have been definitely disposed of.

In a statement to the press, the German delegation at noon today said:

"We are profoundly disappointed in the result of the conferences. Our ministers will point out to the reichstag that we were compelled to submit by force. Our only hope for early evacuation of the Ruhr is for the bankers, when the time comes for raising a loan, to intervene and insist upon speedier evacuation."

Germany promises to begin payment of the reparations immediately after the pact is ratified by the several parliaments, the first year's sum to be one billion gold marks.

Under the agreement reached, ratification of the pact is to be effected by the interested powers within fifteen days if possible after signing. At that time, too, all the numerous provisions of the Dawes plan go into operation under the terms agreed upon at the conference now closed.

As a special concession understood to have been agreed upon through an interchange of letters during a triangular conference today of the Belgian, French and German representatives, Belgium is expected to order withdrawal of her forces of occupation in German territory outside the Ruhr immediately after ratification of the pact.

BRAZIL RUBBER DISTRICT HIT BY REVOLT

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—An eye-witness report of a new revolution in the rubber provinces of Northern Brazil where Americans have large investments, was brought here today by an American official just returned from the area.

A rigid censorship has completely suppressed all news of the rebellion which began July 25, according to this information.

The Brazilian embassy here denies the reports while the state department has only "some information of indefinite character."

"The revolution is led by state troops and clerks who have not been fully paid in months," the returned official told the United Press. "State soldiers, after overthrowing acting Governor Monteiro at Manaus, capital of Amazonas, were driven from the city by federal troops."

"The federal army commander has established a military government and so far as I know is still standing Mansos against the rebels."

Harvesting has not been begun yet and final results cannot at this time be accurately determined, the bureau stated.

COOLIDGE BACK AT SCENES OF CHILDHOOD

(By United Press Leased Wire)
PLYMOUTH, Vt., Aug. 16.—Tired but happy to be free from the cares of state for a while, President Coolidge arrived "back home" today to enjoy a 12-day vacation on his father's farm. It is his first real vacation since he left here for the White House just one year and thirteen days ago.

He has allotted himself less time for his relaxation, members of his party pointed out, than the government gives to the lowest clerk in its employ.

The presidential special which brought the president, Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John, from Washington arrived at Ludlow, the nearest railroad station to Plymouth, about 3 o'clock this morning. The family and accompanying party, however, did not arrive until several hours later and then were driven home in one of the White House limousines, which had been sent up in advance.

"Hello, father," was the president's greeting to Colonel John Coolidge, his parent, who descended the front steps as the glistening White House car drove up on the grass beneath the old cedar near the porch.

The party turned aside from the main road a few paces to the little grave yard atop a ridge to pause a moment by the grave of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., whom they buried there only a month ago.

Fresh flowers placed there by Colonel John and the townfolk decorated the grave. The president, Mrs. Coolidge and John regarded the little mound in silence, then turned away to their car.

After breakfast, the president of the United States turned Calvin Coolidge, farmer, and with his father and John walked around the farm, talking crops and village conditions.

STORY OF WOMAN HELPS PRISONER

Reports Seeing a Strange Man Fleeing Apartment After Hearing Shot

(By United Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—Alienists were called into the Kid McCoy-Theresa Mors shooting case today.

Determined to offset any advantage McCoy's attorneys would gain by having defense alienists declare their client insane, District Attorney Asa Keyes today employed three state alienists and instructed them to make a thorough physical and mental examination of the expugilist, who is held in connection with Mrs. Mors' death.

Doctors Victor Parkin, Louis Weber and Paul Bowers are the alienists retained by the district attorney.

Holds Prisoner Sane. "McCoy's every act shows he is not insane, as his attorneys claim," Keyes said today. "He is in possession of all of his faculties and our alienists will prove it."

Investigators for the district attorney's office claimed today they were told by several persons who were in the Mors antique shop when McCoy ran amuck and shot three persons, that the expugilist, while glaring at a small photograph of Mrs. Mors, expressed fear that he would be accused of killing her.

"I'll about go to the electric chair on account of you," McCoy is alleged to have muttered as he threw the photograph to the floor in fear and loathing.

Confession Letter. A blood stained envelope containing a rambling letter, signed with the initials "A.T.F.," confessing to the murder of Mrs. Mors, was received by Chief of Police Heath today. The letter had been mailed at the Arcade branch post office.

The letter, to which little importance is attached by detectives conducting the investigation, read in part:

"I whom you will never know killed Mrs. Mors (my beloved). I'llis ctili i. () I'lli! I have to print because you might recognize my writing. I will end my life soon as I get one victim who I hate and would done what I did."

A story related by Mrs. Iva Martin to the effect that she saw two men running from the apartment building in which Mrs. Theresa Mors was found dead last Wednesday, today further deepened the mystery surrounding the woman's death.

Exonerates McCoy. "Kid McCoy," who was arrested on suspicion of murdering the woman he hoped to make his tenth wife, was not the man Mrs. Martin saw stagger toward the street and lean for several minutes against the side of the building a few minutes after she heard a woman's screams, Mrs. Martin believes.

She was taken to the city jail by Detective Captain Herman Cline, to whom she related her story, to see if she could identify McCoy. The ex-boxer was ordered to walk down the jail corridor and lean against a wall. Mrs. Martin watched him a few minutes, then said:

"McCoy is tall and stately. The other man was thick and pouchy. He was not a bit stately."

District Attorney Asa Keyes has subpoenaed Mrs. Martin to appear before the grand jury next Tuesday to tell her story.

Sees Second Man. According to Detective Cline, Mrs. Martin said she saw a second man crawl on his hands and knees under her window. Her account of hearing a shot and a woman's screams is more vivid than that of any other witness.

"Oh, my God, don't do that!" a woman screamed, according to Mrs. Martin. "There was a man's voice, muffled in reply. Sounds of a scuffle told of a desperate, but brief struggle. "When I heard the shot, I turned on the light," Mrs. Martin said.

JUDGE BLAMES DIVORCE ON HOTEL LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—"Home vs. Hotel" would have been an appropriate title for the hearing conducted before Judge Harry A. Holler when Mrs. Gruwell and her husband, Lee Roy Gruwell, salesman for a San Francisco concern, appeared in alimony proceedings pending a trial of the wife's suit for divorce.

It developed that hotels won out in real life and therein lies the tragedy of a disrupted family, according to Judge Holler.

Blames Both

"You were both negligent in not having a home," Judge Holler told them after he had heard their testimony.

The principals in the case were ready to subscribe to that doctrine, but each blamed the other for the condition which resulted in their passing most of their married life in hotels instead of acquiring a home of their own.

Mrs. Gruwell and her young daughter were living in a hotel at present she said. The husband's attorney, E. C. Bowen, asked her if it were not true that the chief source of their trouble was that Gruwell felt he was unable to support his wife and child in an expensive hotel apartment.

Charges Intoxication

"No, that was not all the trouble," replied Mrs. Gruwell, who explained she was desirous of moving into a bungalow but did not do so because, she said, her husband drank heavily, and she did not want to be in a home alone with him while he was intoxicated.

Under questioning by her own attorney, G. C. Watson, Mrs. Gruwell said she and her husband had looked at apartments and bungalows, but that the rents were so high they would have cost as much as the hotel rooms after taking everything into consideration.

Efforts were made to show that Mrs. Gruwell stayed out late nights and that the young daughter was kept up later than she should have been, but the court pointed out that if such was the case it was undoubtedly the fault of their mode of living and that the jazz entertainments of hotel and cabaret life could never take the place of wholesome home and neighborhood amusements.

If you had acquired a home instead of living in hotels you probably would not be in divorce court now," Judge Holler told them as he awarded the wife temporary alimony of $60 a month. "Hotel and cabaret life is not conducive to family felicity."

The official reports of the proceedings of the British Parliament, "Hansard," derive their title from a pious old printer named Luke Hansard. Hansard first attracted the notice of the great Pitt by being able to decipher the latter's handwriting. Dried mushrooms is one of Poland's most important exports.

Widow of First S. A. Book Store Owner Succumbs

Mrs. Ellen Erwin, 83, resident of Santa Ana for thirty-nine years, died at her home at 618 Garfield street late yesterday, following a long illness. She was a sister of Leander Bell, who was the owner of the first book store in Santa Ana and who has been dead for many years.

Services will be held from the funeral parlors of Smith and Tuttle at 2 p. m. Monday, the Rev. P. F. Schrock, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating. Mrs. Erwin had been a member of the church for many years.

Burial will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Bare-Leg Dance Plus Sun Leads To Much Misery

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Eight beautiful and vivacious English dancing girls, who reached here on the United States liner Republic, could not resist the invitation of the spacious upper deck of the steamship on the way across the Atlantic to give admiring passengers stockless samples of their art.

The result: Eight pairs of sunburned arms and legs, the ruddiest which ever came under the observation of Dr. A. B. Ingels, ship's surgeon, in his long career. Dr. Ingels took the sting out of the burn, but the beef-like complexion was still evident when the dancers arrived.

The girls are the "Eight Elysee Dancers," here under the management of Adele Raymond, English actress. They chorused, as they moved uneasily about:

"We didn't know the sun could be so cruel."

ALIENISTS KEEP WATCH OVER KID MCCOY

"It was exactly five minutes after midnight. I rushed to the window. There was a full moon.

"Then I saw a man under my window, crawling on his hands and knees. I stood paralyzed, watching him. Then he stood up, and I got a good view of him. I would be able to identify him anywhere. He was about 5 feet, 9 inches tall, heavy chested and bulging at the waist line. He wore no hat.

Staggered Toward Auto

He staggered toward the front of the building, where he leaned against the brick archway and stood still. He was facing me. Then he staggered to the street. Soon afterward I heard a machine driving away."

The coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Mors, today turned back to District Attorney Keyes for solution of these two unanswered questions:

"Did Norman Selby kill Mrs. Mors to prevent her turning her affections from him to another?"

"Or, did Mrs. Mors commit suicide as McCoy battled with her in her apartment to save her from herself?"

Jurors In Doubt

Testimony of a coroner's autopsy surgeon that while the shot that killed Mrs. Mors left no distinguishable powder burns on her face, the revolver was fired at close range, left the coroner's jury in doubt as to the cause of death. Therefore it found that the woman was killed with a revolver held a few inches from her head and recommended further examination of the case.

The finding constituted the first support the dapper "Kid" has received for his suicide story. It was

Trotsky Says U. S. Imperial Nation

MOSCOW, Aug. 17.—Leon Trotsky, head of the Russian soviet army, in a speech at a meeting of engineers bitterly attacked what he termed "American imperialism." Trotsky charged that Secretary of State Hughes' "participation in the London conference and his visits to the European capitals is an attempt to Balkanize Europe, making her dependent on America."

a setback to the state but District Attorney Keyes says Selby must face a murder charge, nevertheless.

Many Wild Rumors

Rumors commenced immediately after Selby's wild orgy of shooting, and persisting up until now that there was a fifth victim of the shooting affray. This was explained today by Mrs. Jennie Thomas, Selby's sister.

Mrs. Thomas said when Selby first rushed into her home on the day when he shot three persons in the Mors exclusive antique shop she understood him to say:

"I've shot a man. Now," she added, "I have learned whom he meant. It was Mrs. Mors."

Mrs. Thomas is insistent that the "Kid," hero of many ring and martial affairs, was not in his right mind when he went wild with a gun in the antique shop.

Words Incoherent

"He must have been under some influence when he came to me. His words were incoherent and his thinking unclear."

The police have claimed that McCoy had been drinking when they arrested him following the shooting.

The murder charges against McCoy will be pressed, as the district attorney points out the coroner's jury verdict did not show emphatically that Mrs. Mors took her own life.

"The verdict also included murder as a possible explanation," Keyes said. "No exact cause was ascribed because of the circumstantial nature of the evidence."

FARM BUREAU'S
PICNIC MAY
LURE 5000

That the joint farm bureau picnic, to be held at Orange County park, September 6, in honor of E.
O. Bradfute, president of the American Federation of Farm Bureaus, would be the biggest event of its kind in the history of the county organization, was reiterated in a statement made today by A. M. Stanley, secretary of the local organization, to the effect that the meeting would be a conference between directors of farm bureaus of all of the eleven Western states.

More than 5000 persons from all the Southern counties of the state will be present, according to plans being made for the picnic, and it was stated that a special effort would be made for the attendance of every farm bureau official in the Southwest. In addition directors of farm bureaus from the western states will be here, Stanley stated.

A conference at which were E.
E. Campbell, Stanley, and directors of the farm bureau regions No. 1 and 2, which embraced the counties south of the Tehachapi mountains, was held in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon at which time plans for the picnic were advanced.

go on trial before Judge F. C. Drummond here August 21 at 10
a. m., charged with a statutory offense, the court calendar here disclosed today.

Wilson was arraigned late yesterday before Judge F. C. Drummond, who fixed the date of trial. Attorney Morris A. Cain represented Wilson.

The charge against Wilson involves a 15-year-old Anaheim girl.

Beginning September 27th, the manufacture, importation, and sale of matches in Turkey will become

REAL TORS URGE CONGRESS ACT
ON BIG DAM

The Colorado river committee of the California Real Estate association, meeting at Long Beach yesterday, passed resolutions urging upon the national congress immediate action on the Colorado that will result in flood control for the Imperial Valley, water conservation through which a vast area of arid land may be reclaimed, and development of electric power and development of domestic water for Southern California communities.

The committee omitted reference to the point of location of a dam and for construction of the all-American canal because they were points that could be settled later and because of the fact that local conditions would more or less determine them.

Speaking as a member of the committee drafting the resolution, Freeman H. Bloodgood of this city, said that recommendation was made that the dam be built at a point that would make effective four cardinal points—flood protection, hydro-electric power, reclamation and domestic water.

Following a preamble reciting that the Colorado river is one of the greatest undeveloped resources in America, the resolution read:
"We urge upon Congress, early as possible, action in the consideration of the construction of a dam in the Colorado River to be placed high enough up the stream so as to afford protection to life and property in the Imperial Valley, insure water conservation for irrigation, make possible the development of hydro-electric energy for the industrial needs of a great portion of America and provide water for domestic purposes, which is absolutely essential to the continuous growth of cities in the Pacific Southwest."

It was stated that action of the committee in non-mention of the site of the dam and the all-American canal reflected the counsel of S. C. Evans, mayor of Riverside and a director of the Boulder Dam Association, and Earl Pound, a director of the Imperial Valley Irrigation district. According to report both men, and other speakers at the meeting, favored the all-American canal, but reference to it was omitted, so as not to involve the California Real Estate association in a controversy.

It was expected the resolution would be approved at a meeting at Long Beach today of directors of the state organization. Directors legally compose the membership of the legislative committee scheduled to meet at the Virginia hotel at noon. Bloodgood is chairman of the legislative committee.

ATTACK HEART BALM SUIT ON LEGAL BASIS

Edward H. Cookingham, Laguna Beach telephone magnate, will fight the $311,550 damage suit brought against him by Miss Mary Lantry, 24, who claims to have been his former "soul mate."

This was indicated by Cookingham's formal demurrer to Miss Lantry's complaint, which was on file today in the superior court.
Cookingham has retained the legal firm of Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus to represent him.

A general and special demurrer was filed, the former merely alleging that Miss Lantry's complaint setting forth her alleged former relations with Cookingham, did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

The complaint was further attacked by the special demurrer, which contended that the three major counts upon which Miss Lantry based demand for $300,000 damages, automatically were barred from prosecution by the "statute of limitations." This technical phrase expressed the claim of the defense that the legal time limit for filing such a complaint has expired.

The demurrer cited the specific law under which the defense was made, this law requiring that complaints regarding such acts as charged by Miss Lantry must be brought in court within two years after the asserted acts occurred. On one of the counts, the time limit was stated to be one year.

One of the counts was the breach of promise allegation, Miss Lantry claiming that Cookingham became engaged to her in July, 1922. He posed as a divorced man, she said, whereas, she alleged, he was then living with his wife and not divorced.

Acts charged in the other two counts were alleged by Miss Lantry to have extended over a period of time ending late in 1923.

Argument of the demurrer was expected to be heard in the superior court next Friday.

Trial of Man in Girl Case Fixed

mond here August 21 at 10

fense, the court calendar here disclosed today.

PHYSICIANS GIVE JUDGE COX
MILK TOAST ONLY; HE SAYS
HE BALKS EVEN WHEN SICK

Nemesis Pledges Speeders
He Will Soon Be With Them, After Rest

Justice John B. Cox, Santa Ana speeders' Nemesis of wide fame, is a very sick man.

Sitting in his easy chair at his home at 1628 North Bush street, he rocks gently to and fro and wonders how long it will be before he is back at the courthouse here.
"There is one darn funny thing about doctors," he stated today.
"They all tell you what you can't eat, but I haven't found one yet that could tell me what I could eat, and I have had three here now."

Judge said his stomach was "out of order" and that this was the reason why the doctors "were not hitting it off any too well."
"My hat is still in the ring though," he added, quickly, "and I'll be back in a short time, but now I want to rest. I'm tired and worn out, and I am not going back to the office for a long time. I'm not even going to think of things back there until I get well."

Wants Real Rest
But his friends say he does think of his office, that his thoughts are continually on his duties "back on the bench" and that he will not be satisfied until he goes back to work—until he goes back to mete out jail sentences to speeders and violators of Orange county's laws.

One-arm drivers and "cutters in"
are his bane, his friends admitted, yet he can do his part in making many persons happy by marrying more couples than any other man in Orange county. This record had been his for many years, and he does not like the idea of discarding it at this time, they added.

"I'm going to stay right here until I get well," Judge Cox continued. "If you what it means to be sick and I am not going to go back to the office until I am on my feet again, even if it takes a month, yes, two months. No, I'm not going anywhere, going to stay right here at home and rest and get well. I took one of those trips to the mountains once, and the high altitude affected my heart, so it's no more "high flights" for me. I may get a little later and ride around, but for the present I'm going to stay right here."

Coming Back to Speeders
"What was the last time you wanted to get married do while you are sick, Judge?" he was asked.

"They will either get someone else to marry them or they will stay single," he replied, daffily, "but nothing could please me more than to be able to marry a hundred couples today. If I were able and they were willing."

"And what can we tell the speeders for you, Judge?" he was asked again.

"Tell them that I haven't given up the ship and I will be back with them in a short time," was his smiling retort.

Judge Cox has many friends in Santa Ana, consequently his house has been "full of company" ever since word was sent out, that he was ill.

He has been ill for more than ten days now, and has been confined to his bed for the past week. Yesterday was the first day physicians permitted him to sit up, and it pleased him to a great extent.

But the fact that milk toast is all the food he has had for several days, he reiterated, does not please him a bit.

FINDS BUSINESS
LOOKING UP IN MIDDLE WEST

The nation over, 1925, is going to be a banner business year, today declared W. C. May, former Eastern banker and now president of the May Motor company, who has just returned from a two weeks' visit at Lexington, Neb., and a tour of some of the Middle Western states.

"Farmers and business men in most of the Middle West states," he continued, "have a different taste in their mouths and a different expression on their faces, as the result of bumper wheat and corn crops."

"Farmers are getting good prices for their products and are paying up their debts and paying off morgages all of which is beneficial to commercial and banking interests."

"While in Omaha I discussed general business conditions with E. M. F. Leffang, prominent banker of that city. He had just returned from a tour of England, France and Germany, and he declared that conditions there were such that in a very short time business would be going strong in those countries."

May said he believed Coolidge would "carry" Nebraska in the November election.

"Business men are confident of the success of the Republican ticket," he added, "and are conducting their activities in perfect confidence that Coolidge will be elected. Men who have a leaning toward Davis believe that he would make an excellent chief executive, but they do not have that opinion of his running mate, Charles Byran."

With the recent experience of Coolidge's becoming the chief executive by the death of President Harding, these men do not feel that they can take a chance on a repetition of the recent experience, and for that reason many who look with favor upon Davis will vote for Coolidge."

May was called to Lexington by the death, August 1, of his brother,
A. A. May.

A big celebration is soon to be held in Osaka to mark the completion of ten thousand miles of railway in Japan.

JUSTICE J. B. COX

LABEL IN COAT
MAY REUNITE
COUPLE

The discovery of a clothier's label in the coat of a ragged stranger found ground to death between the wheels of a New York Central freight may lead to the reunion of a brother and sister long separated, according to M. E.
Jemison, Orange city marshal.

The body of the unidentified man was found, mangled beyond recognition, beside the tracks of the New York Central near the farm of John Curry, in Coldwater, N.
Y. The only mark of identification on the man was a clothier's label put out by A. J. Kunk, of Orange, who Jemison stated, was in business in Orange about fifteen years ago and before that in Santa Ana.

The man's body was taken to a New York City morgue, and notice of his death printed in the city papers. Miss Elizabeth Smith, of 135 Reynolds street, New York, saw the notice, and, knowing that her brother, Emerson E. Smith, once lived at Orange, thought that the body might be his.

Marshal M. E. Jemison received a letter from the frantic sister yesterday, asking that he make a search in Orange, as that was the last place Smith was known to be living. She stated that the morgue was holding the body, and to make all possible haste.

Jemison instituted a search for the missing man, and after some time spent in combing the packing houses of the city, he discovered Smith, who, it appears, was not dead. He promised to get into communication with his sister at once, and will probably be united with her, due to the efforts of the police.

SEND THEFT CASE
YOUTH TO MOTHER

Promising Justice John Landell that she would not let the feet of Outlaw Westcott, 18, touch Santa Ana soil again if he were freed of burglary charges, a cousin of the arrested youth was given custody of the youth and was put on an eastbound train today. Justice Landell dismissed the charges upon receipt of sufficient cash, which had been wired by the young man's mother, to pay for his railroad ticket to her home in Schenectady, N.
Y.

Westcott was arrested Tuesday morning after being chased by police from Fifth and French streets to Washington and Grand avenues during which chase officers failed to stop the fleeing lad by shooting revolver bullets above his head.
The young man was accused by his uncle, J. P. Stringling, of having broken into the Stringling residence where he forced open a desk and took keys which opened a garage where the uncle's automobile was kept. The car was "borrowed," according to Stringling, and then the police were notified.

WILD PACIFIC
CRUISE OF 18 MONTHS ENDS

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—
Back from the maddest adventure of a decade on the Pacific, the sturdy Maine-built schooner Narwhal and her crew of twenty scientists, singers, undertakers and "gentleman adventurers" rode quietly at anchor in San Francisco bay today.

It was her first day of quiet for eighteen long months—months spent cruising in the South Seas, fleeing from Antarctic ice floes, fighting starvation, praying for wind and trimming sail in the dead of night when prayers were answered all too well.

A year ago in February the Narwhal sailed out of the Golden Gate bound for "somewhere."
"Some said she sought 'treasure,'"
"We sought health and we got it," however, was the announcement today of "Dug Face Fitzpatrick," the bucko mate, known ashore as James Fitzpatrick, a mining man.

Of the twenty-two adventurers who left San Francisco nineteen returned. The other three left the ship at points between San Francisco and Sydney, Australia. Three sail sea sailors took their paces.
As they sailed away a year and a half ago few but the skipper knew a main sail from a scupper but as they came back they sang the good old, deep sea chanty,
"Blow the Man Down," with all the finesse of the days of the "old clipper ships."

"I wouldn't trade 'em for the best crew that ever sailed out of Boston," was the tribute of Captain Arcy.

ARMY ENGINEER PLANS HARBOR HEARING

Evidencing an interest in the possible development of barge traffic between Orange county and Los Angeles harbor, the army board of engineers at Washington has directed a further investigation of that particular feature of possible traffic for the harbor, it became known here today, with announcement by Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce that a hearing would be held by Major H. A. Finch, district engineer in Los Angeles, at the Newport Harbor yacht club at 10 a. m. Wednesday, August 20.

Stating that the facts presented at the hearing would be included in a report to the board of army engineers by Major Finch as a supplemental report to that made to the same body by Major E. D. Ardery, Major Finch's predecessor, Welch said the hearing is one of great importance in relation to a possible favorable report on the harbor by the board.

According to Welch, Major Finch will review sections of the report made by Major Ardery covering evidence on shipping presented at the public hearing in Santa Ana on May 5.

Welch said that officials of several barge companies had been invited to be present at the hearing to give the investigating engineer the benefit of their personal knowledge of the barge business and their opinions as to the possibility of a successful service of this type being instituted between the two ports.

General Lansing H. Beach, former chief of army engineers and now a resident of Southern California, has been invited by Major Finch to attend the conference as his guest, Welch announced.

Sample Ballot Mailing Rush Is Opened At P. O.

A perspiring office force, working under the direction of County Clerk J. M. Backs, today gave the local postal employees something to worry about.

Mailing of 37,802 sample ballots to voters registered for the primary election August 26 was begun today from the courthouse, with the prospects that the post office would soon take on the atmosphere of a Christmas rush.

Today, ten days in advance of the election, was the date officially established by state law, Backs said, for the first mailing of sample ballots.

Preparation of the sample ballots has occupied several weeks at the clerk's office. When it is finished, with the last ballot in the mail, the clerk's force must then plunge into the task of preparing the official ballots, together with other election supplies for the 136 precincts of the county.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN'S WEEKLY BIBLE TALK

Jesus Talks With Nicodemus

By William Jennings Bryan

(John 3:1-17)

The Bible text for today's talk is so big with practical truths that one hardly knows where to begin or what to emphasize most or how to conclude.

The Master talks with Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews. He came to Jesus by night—not a very courageous thing for him to do yet it was better than not to come at all.

His prominence is proof of his intelligence and what he says is, therefore, of weight, especially when it is remembered that the leaders among the Jewish people were very bitter in their opposition to Christ.

Nicodemus recognized in Christ some one greater than the ordinary man.

He says, "We know that thou art a teacher come from God," and he gives a reason that was convincing from his point of view, namely, "for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him."

A Great Compliment. Christ paid Nicodemus a high compliment when He revealed to him the central truth of the Christian religion. Here was an intelligent man, one of the opposition and yet open minded; he was sufficiently impressed to admit Christ's superiority over other teachers, giving as a reason an admitted fact—the performing of miracles—and drawing from the acts of Christ a conclusion that was entirely justified.

The Savior now takes him into His confidence and proclaims the necessity for a new birth. "Except man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

How one can be born again was a mystery to Nicodemus, as it has been a mystery to millions since that day and for the same reason. Nicodemus had not learned to distinguish between the physical and the spiritual world.

He was still a materialist, although evidently in search of light. He put to Christ the materialist's question—How can this be? The Savior answered:

"Except a man be born of water and of the spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God."

"That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

The Two Worlds Defined. Here we have the two worlds defined and the distinction seems clear enough, and yet it is ignored by many throughout the world who are as intelligent as Nicodemus. These two worlds exist side by side; their inhabitants mingle daily, and yet the inhabitants of each are unable to comprehend the inhabitants of the other.

The radio has given us the great est illustration drawn from nature in many centuries.

We now know that there are sounds in the air that can be heard by those in tune with the sender, and by him only. One with a modern receiver can tune in on any wave link he likes, listen to what he pleases and shut out all other sounds.

And so it is in the world of the flesh and the world of the spirit. There are some who inhabit the physical world and are utterly unconscious of the fact that there is a higher world. They even scoff at those who are in "tune with the infinite." Knowing only the pleasures that come through the flesh, they mock at those whom they call visionary.

These worshippers of the God of Base eat and drink and die; and they call this "life." What others spend in altruistic ways—to their own delight and for the benefit of society—the sensualists lavish upon themselves. And they are unconscious of their sin because they know no better—"Father forgive them, for they know not what they do."

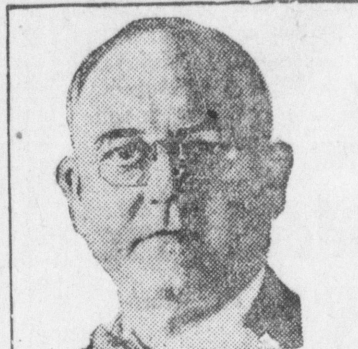

No Greater Miracle. And yet these materialists denounce as narrow minded those who consider both the soul and the body, as if it were proof of intellectual breadth to exclude the most important part of man—the spiritual element.

It is possible to be born again and to be so changed that the one who undergoes such a change hates the things he once loved and loves the things he once hated.

There is no greater miracle than this and it is performed every day all over the world. The healing of lepers, the opening of the eyes of the blind, the restoration of the hearing—even the raising of the dead—is not more marvelous than the

Veranda Overlooking Bay— Again Scene of Friday Bridge Party

The hospitable portals of the Newport Harbor Yacht club welcomed the members of the Friday bridge club yesterday noon to their weekly luncheon and game.

The cheerful dining room was set with places for forty-eight, and at the luncheon hour a delectable meal was enjoyed at the little green tables which had been decorated with quaint lavender thistles and old-fashioned pinks.

After the final course of the refreshing, noon-day meal, an idle hour was spent in card before the more serious chat played began. When the women repaired to the sunlit veranda where the playing tables had been placed, repartee ceased in favor of the game. Mrs. Frank Barham, of Los Angeles, proved most skillful yesterday, receiving set of madeira tea napkins as reward for the highest score. The visitor of the afternoon to attain highest tally was Mrs. Ivy, the guest of Mrs. Barham. When the box containing guest prize was opened, a dainty vanity case was revealed.

Twelve tables were played. For an entirely inexpressible reason the mah. jongs enthusiasts were not in the accustomed place with their cabinet of tiny tiles, and bridge held sway during the entire afternoon.

Mrs. Conrad Richter and Mrs. Lew Wallace were hostesses of the afternoon. Mrs. George Wilson had also planned to receive, but was unable to be present.

Local Pianist-Composer To Promote Opera Interest in America

One of the spectators at the premiere of the new American opera, "Alcala," in Akron, O., and a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seibler at their Old English manor estate, Stan-Nywet Hall, recently, was Clarence Gustlin, of 816 North Main street.

As opera chairman of the American music department of the National Federation of Music Clubs, Mr. Gustlin played the role of distinguished critic at this display of American, creative, operatic genius. Interested in the New World libretto of his friend, Cecil Fanning, as well as the music of Francesco P. De Leon, Mr. Gustlin decided to include this opera among those to be presented to music clubs this coming season in his "Inter-Recitals."

The "Inter-Recital" is Mr. Gustlin's own creation for the purpose of preparing different clubs for intelligent "listening in" on operas.

The opera, "Alcala," is distinctly of the New World in mood and theme. It is an Indian love story with a truly desert setting. The principals included Mabel Garrison, Edward Johnson, Cecil Fanning and Francis Sudler. Cecil Fanning sang here two years ago in Music Association concert. It was his aim for his libretto that it should greatly increase interest in the already well-started opera movement in America.

Plenty of Fur Trims Fall Coats

This is one of the first winter coat models to reach us from Paris and it indicates that fur will be used in generous quantities. The fur line is new and attractive, but the low belt is the most hopeful sign of all. We are all a little tired of the wrap that has to be held together, and here is a return to the fastening that relieves us of this responsibility. This model is of beige wool with fur a few shades darker.

HOPE HAMPTON POSING IN SOME DAINTY FROCKS OF GINGHAM.

"Simple frocks for a quiet mood," advises Hope Hampton, as she pinpoints in the latest styles in gingham dresses.

Style in gingham? Oh, yes! It's even easy to achieve as the photographs demonstrate. The flounced model cleverly makes use of the modish apron tunic. A long over-skirt and clever collar are stylish adjuncts of another. A third is a straight-line affair with a dashing bow on one hip. Fashionable models, all of them, and all of them of gingham.

"Frocks like these are fresh and sweet for morning," says Miss Hampton. "I wear them often, especially in California. They put me in a cheerful work-a-day mood."

"A dress, I think, often causes one's moods. It's equally true to decide the dress one will choose. The impression one wishes to make, too, may dictate the gown. Be careful of color and line when you want to impress men. Be careful of fashion and finishing details when you want to impress women."

Those enjoying the occasion included the honoree, Mrs. Chaney, the hostess, Mrs. Whitney and Mesdames Lura B. Leonard, Elma Leonard, Walter Pine, Thos. Try, M. J. Wilson, Nora Bruns, Harriet Smith and Byron Hunter and the Misses Blanche Collings, Marie Daniels, Lily Osborne, Helen Fine and Mrs. Chaney's two small great-granddaughters, Ellen and Charlotte Coad.

Recreation Club Meets With Mrs. Gerrard

Members of the Recreation club were pleasantly entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hugh Gerrard, 730 Cypress street.

Garden flowers had been used throughout the house with a predominating note of yellow in the African marigolds, dahlies and roses. A business meeting preceded the social hour, and two interesting talks on the purpose of the club were delivered. Miss Margaret Carswell remarked that while the work of the club always had centered around those close at home, it was still advisable to set aside one day a month to work for those in more remote fields. Such a policy broadened the outlook of the club, she said.

Mrs. Hugh Gerrard in an informal talk which was of great interest to the members contended that the promotion of neighborly feeling was the major purpose of the society.

Following the business meeting, the women passed the time with their needlework. Punch and cakes were served in the late afternoon.

Among the members present at yesterday's meeting were Miss Margaret Carswell, Mesdames Robert Gammon, C. J. Hill, Frank Landsdowne, L. E. Pierce, Hugh Gerrard and Frank Christian, Mesdames Addie Lowe and H. B. Pike, and the Misses Ellen Schultz and Addie Armstrong were guests for the afternoon.

Motor to Santa Cruz For Convention

After motoring to Santa Cruz through the beautiful redwood forest and returning by the coast drive, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Enderle attended the American League convention recently in Santa Cruz.

Mr. Enderle attended the convention as delegate from the local chapter of the organization. While he was sitting at sessions in the northern city, Mrs. Enderle took advantage of its situation near Carmel to visit that distinguished colony where the players of the Theatre-of-the-Golden-Bough have been presenting their summer plays.

At the close of the convention, they proceeded to Oakland to visit Mrs. Enderle's sister, Mrs. F. J. Cox, formerly Miss Roberta Owens of Santa Ana.

With her return Mrs. Enderle will reopen her studio in the Greenleaf building.

Parishioners Honor Visiting Rector At Picnic Dinner

Motoring to Hewes park last evening, sixteen picnickers attended a delightful dinner party under the trees in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. H. V. Harris of Grass Valley.

Leaving the city at 6:30 on the invitation of Mrs. James L. Allen, the members of the party enjoyed a sumptuous supper at the sunset hour. Following the repast, they returned to the city for a social evening at the home of the hostess, 2304 Spurgeon street. Band music and games were the source of interest during the evening.

The honored guest is taking the Rev. W. L. H. Benton's parish of the Church of the Messiah, Episcopal, during the latter's vacation at Carmel-by-the-sea.

Among those included last evening were Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Berry and daughter, Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Berry, Mrs. W. D. Witherspoon of Nashville, Tenn., Jack R. Witherspoon of Princeton, N. J., Miss Marjorie Berry of San Pedro, Mr. and Mrs. James Afton, the Rev. and Mrs. H. V. Harris of Grass Valley, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haddon and Mrs. M. J. Borgmeyer of New York City, sister of Mrs. Haddon.

Mrs. Haddon's niece, Miss Jorice Bauehle, is spending three weeks during August in Kings City, and will stop with the Rev. and Mrs. W. L. H. Benton at their summer home in Carmel on her return trip.

CLEVELAND AND CHANDLER POPULAR

Motors continue to manifest keen interest in the new 1925 Chandler and Cleveland models, according to a statement today by H. H. Traveller, sales manager for Fred Medbery, local distributor.

"Famous for its power on hills, the Pike's Peak motor powering the Chandler has made the Chandler famous," said Traveller. "Additional popularity has been given the car because of its exclusive traffic transmission feature. Women drivers, in particular, appreciate the transmission that makes it possible to shift gears at any speed, and without clashing of the gears. The transmission offers an added safety on hills, where quick shifting often is necessary to prevent an accident. Four wheel brakes are optional with purchasers at a minor increased cost."

Traveller asserted that the mileage motor and the "one-shot" automatic chassis lubrication system featuring the new Cleveland, also is increasing the popularity of the car.

Lubricating in one shot, as it does, twenty-three points on the chassis, the oiling system insures longer life for the car," the sales manager said.

Stating that four-wheel brakes are optional, and that balloon tires are standard equipment, Traveller said that the Cleveland is one of the few cars which can use balloon tires without change in design of the chassis.

Announcement was made today that Walter F. Gastlin, well known in Santa Ana Orange county as an automobile salesman, had joined the sales force of the Chandler and Cleveland agency. Gastlin, it was said, will have charge of the branch agency at Orange.

According to Traveller, the agency has made deliveries recently as follows:

Cleveland models—M. R. Masters, Laguna Beach, sport; Paul Palmer, Garden Grove, touring; O. Guller, sport, and J. Thomas, sedan, both Santa Ana; J. P. Brown and E. H. Dougherty, Huntington Beach, touring car each.

Chandler models—Louis Mesbaum, Santa Ana, Comrade roadster; W. M. West and C. R. Johnson, Huntington Beach, Royal Dispatch each.

Declaring that the club is not entering into competition with garage owners, John A. Henderson, one of the local representatives of the National Automobile club, said today that Dick's garage, at 308 East Third street, had been named to give service to members of the club.

"The club is offering free tow and repair service to its members, being the first club to offer such service," Henderson said. "The state-wide chain of service stations is one of the important features of the organization, and offers to its members service in every state in the nation."

Chief of State Motor Division Will Ask Amendment to State Vehicle Law

RETURNS FROM EAST

Mental and Physical Tests For License Applicants to Be Urged By Marsh

Mental and physical tests will be required of applicants for licenses to operate motor cars, if Will H. Marsh, chief of the state motor division is successful in his announced intention of having such a regulation included in amendments to the state law he will offer at the next session of the state legislature.

Marsh made his announcement following his return this week from a trip of several weeks in the east, during which he made special investigations and observation of motor regulatory laws.

He stated that he would at once start preparatory work for amendments to the motor vehicle act. The amendments, he said, would be based on the result of his study of conditions in big centers in eastern states.

"Investigations in Massachusetts and Connecticut demonstrated clearly to me that mental and physical tests are effective in the elimination of irresponsible drivers from the highways," said the chief.

"One of the interesting discoveries I made in Massachusetts was the increase in the last five or six years of arrests for driving automobiles while intoxicated."

"The records there show that in 1918 there were 553 licenses revoked for this cause. In 1923 the licenses of 3333 persons were revoked on the same charge. The records of Massachusetts also show that sixty-two fatal accidents resulted from automobile liquor cases in 1923 and that 154 other persons were injured."

"After studying motor vehicle fees in more than a dozen states I am convinced that a flat weight fee of so much per 100 pounds on all types of motor vehicles and a gasoline tax are the most equitable means of taxing motorists."

AYRES AND WILSON ARE PIERCE AGENTS

A. X. Ayres and Roy S. Wilson, operating here as the Orange County Motors company, have been made agents for the Pierce-Arrow automobile line, it was announced here today by Ayres.

The company headquarters is with the R. W. Townsend Motor company, First and Main streets, Ayres stated.

"The Pierce-Arrow is known as the automobile of the future," said Ayres.

State Revokes 19 Licenses In Month July

Nineteen motorists of the state had their licenses revoked during July for various reasons, according to a statement from the state motor vehicle department reaching here today.

Revocations were made by the department for reckless driving, for driving autos while intoxicated and for speeding. Two cancellations were by court order, one case being in Hollywood and the other in San Francisco.

Eight of the cancellations were made at the request of parents of young men who were asserted to have been reckless in operation of cars.

PATROLMAN FOR AUTO CLUB ON DUTY

Helping motorists in distress is one of the greatest works in the world, according to Louis F. Brown, district patrolman for the Automobile club of Southern California.

Leaving Fullerton, his headquarters, every morning at 8 o'clock, Brown, drives his patrol wagon over the Whittier boulevard to Belvedere Gardens, Los Angeles, and then retraces his route through Fullerton, and then goes south to San Juan Capistrano, passing through Santa Ana and Anaheim.

"My unusual experiences are few, for I am the only one of eleven patrolmen who has not yet had to care for an accident," said Brown. "I have had a lot of minor troubles to care for, but nothing unusual."

Rex, Brown's police dog, is his faithful companion on his run, and is a guarantee against molestation of property left in the care of the patrolman.

"And in addition to security offered by the presence of the dog I have another protection," said the patrolman. "Look at my badge number. It is a 'natural' eleven—and that is a sign of good fortune."

"A large service to motorists is a part of my work," Brown continued. "The routine work incumbent upon the position is varied, covering a multitude of things of seeming minor importance, but in reality a necessity to safe travel."

Sweeping glass from the highways, caring for signs and keeping watch for stolen cars are just a few of the numerous things I am supposed to do.

"I carry equipment for taking care of minor troubles that develop in motors while on the road. My assistance in changing tires is available to women when they are alone—but when a man is with the party, I leave the work strictly to the man. Cars in such difficulty that repair work cannot be facilitated on the road are towed to the nearest garage."

"All patrol wagons are equipped for rendering first aid to injured persons—and this work is one of the most important of the patrolmen. With medical supplies carried patrolmen are able to cope virtually with any type of injury in which temporary aid is of value."

YUMA ROAD TO CALIFORNIA IS PERFECT

Highways Between This State and Texas In Best Shape In Last 5 Years

Roads between California and Texas are in fine condition now, according to reliable reports reaching Santa Ana.

The route through Tucson and Yuma, Arizona, by way of San Diego, to Santa Ana is reported in the best condition in five years.

In reply to a letter of inquiry asking for definite information on the road by way of Yuma, George Lynn, publisher of the Yuma Herald, says:

"The road is paved or hard-surfaced from Holtville, California, to the sand planks west of Yuma. The planks are in excellent condition. The road from the planks this way, for seven and one-half miles, has just been completed and opened; it is hard-surfaced and fast going."

"There is a six-mile detour that is rough, but sure; this detour brings you to the narrow valley four miles west of Yuma. From there in to this city the road has been worked and is good."

"Within two or three weeks, so the construction engineer tells me, the detour of six miles, referred to above, will be eliminated, giving you a fast stretch all the way to El Centro."

Yuma to Phoenix. "Regarding the road from Yuma to Phoenix, I have just returned over it. For five or six miles west of Buckeye there is a detour where they are paving; however you can average 15 miles per hour on that strip. The balance of the new highway all the way into Yuma is open and fast going. Near Aztec there is a mile or so of highway fill that is still soft, but which will pack at the first rain."

It is reported that the new road west from Tucson to Gila, through Casa Grande and Maricopa is now completed and in good condition and that it is not necessary to go into Phoenix from Yuma and back out to Tucson to reach El Paso.

A day's travel is saved by going direct from Yuma to Tucson along the Southern Pacific, it is claimed.

Says Pass up Phoenix. Monty Mansfield, Ford and Lincoln dealer in Tucson, writes that if he were going to California, he would go straight west from Tucson through Casa Grande and Gila and save "the distance around by Phoenix."

"You can figure on about nine and a half hours driving to Yuma from Tucson by this route," he says, and adds that he made it in a Lincoln in less than eight.

Continuing, he says: "From Yuma to Los Angeles, through the Imperial valley and out by the Salton sea is all good and mostly paved with the exception of the first fifteen miles out of Yuma, which is not good and by that I mean it is slow."

"I believe that as soon as this stretch out of Yuma is completed they are now working it into a good road and a small part is open to traffic—that you will be able to leave here at daylight and be in Los Angeles in sixteen to seventeen hours and in San Diego in fourteen and a half to fifteen."

SPEEDY RACER ENTERED IN ORANGE COUNTY AUTO RACES

Here is one of the speedy cars entered in the automobile races to be run on September 1, in the program of races arranged by the Orange County Racing association for its new track at the corner of Edinger street and Greenville road. It is a special, with a Chevrolet motor and capable of doing 100 miles an hour, according to Frank Stansfield, manager of the racing association. Miss Velma Watkins (on the hood) and Miss Lucille Williams (at the wheel), both enthusiastic motorists, are predicting victory for this car, and because of their confidence in its speed being superior to that of cars that will enter, were given permission to pose in the machine. The car is being entered by H. C. Simonsma, stock clerk with the Pashley Motor company, Chevrolet dealer.

SCHOOL BUSES S. A. MAN TAKES POSITION IN LOS ANGELES

O. H. Egge announced today that his body building works had nearly completed the construction of passenger carrying bodies for five school buses that are to be delivered before the opening of the fall term of school in several districts in Southern California.

On the nearly completed list are two buses each for the Brawley and Calipatria school districts in the Imperial valley and one each for the grammar schools at Westmoreland, Banning and Redlands. These, Egge said, would be delivered within the next ten days. Each bus will carry forty pupils.

The department also is engaged in the construction of bodies for other buses for school purposes. Egge estimating the work on hand at $45,000. This work, he said, is being done in addition to other body work being done at his establishment.

HOUSE CAT GONE WILD. KILL GAME IN WOODS. HAZELTON, Pa., Aug. 17.—Henry Meiss, local game warden, finds the woods infested with cats who have gone back to the wild and are killing young rabbits and birds. He has shot many of them and has asked sportsmen to assist him.

Some of the cars and drivers participating in the fast races at Ascot will be entered in the race program to be given here September 1 by the Orange County Racing association, according to a statement by Frank Stansfield, president and manager of the association.

Stansfield announced today that work on the new track at the corner of Edinger street and Greenville road would be completed by tomorrow and that drivers would be permitted to exercise their "steeds" on the course if they so desired.

"The course has been hardened by frequent rolling with a steam roller outfit, and should become a fast track," said Stansfield. "We are anticipating some speedy races for some of the fast racing cars of the Southland will be entered, according to present indications."

In preparing our track, we have given special attention to safety measures for protection of spectators. While we do not expect accidents by racing cars, that always is a possibility. A large ditch between the track and the field that will be occupied by spectators will protect the latter from injury should one or more of the cars mix up in an accident. In addition there will be a three-strand wire fence between the runs and the racing cars."

The track is seventy-five feet wide and "dished," the manager pointed out.

"Drivers in Los Angeles are manifesting a deep interest in the coming card, and with many of them giving assurance that they will enter their cars, it is possible we will increase our prizes from $800 to $1000," Stansfield said. "It is our purpose to develop the very best speed demons in order to give the fans real races."

"Sleeper and Mills started out one morning to chase the elusive deer, the pair taking a direction opposite that taken by Freeman and myself. Investigating the report of a gun and the barking of dogs, Freeman and I discovered a dog fighting a wounded buck in the brush, while Sleeper and Mills were playing tag in an endeavor to procure a vantage point from which to witness the battle."

"Not considering it possible to dispatch the wounded animal by a bullet without endangering the life of the dog, Sleeper was on the point of slipping around to a high point to see the fight when the buck spied the fat county assessor and direct plunge for him. Believing discretion the better part of valor, Mills took to the tall timber."

"Sleeper just did not have time to climb a tree, and being a heavy weight, did the only thing he could do—stood his ground and grappled with the infuriated animal. After receiving a few rents in his trousers Sleeper managed to get a stronghold on Mr. Buck—and we have had venison steak, venison stew, and more venison ever since."

Freeman did much to subdue the buck by dropping down from his perch in the tree. It was an uneven battle after Freeman got in action. The writer's principal activity was in adjusting his nerves.

PRESCOTT, Ont., Aug. 17.—The Long Sault Rapids in the St. Lawrence river were successfully negotiated recently by George Trump and Duke Weldington, both of Massena, N. Y., in two light canoes. HUPP SOON TO PRODUCE NEW STRAIGHT 8 SAYS S. A. DEALER

Rumors Which Have Been Going About City Are Finally Confirmed

TO APPEAR JANUARY 1

Company Will Not Abandon Its Line of Four Cylinder Cars, Says Report

The Hupp Motor Car corporation on January 1 will add to its production a straight line eight automobile.

Recent rumors to the effect that the company would surprise the motor world by announcing an eight, were confirmed here today by Otto Haan, of the Cadillac Garage company, local dealer for the Hupp.

At the same time, the dealer emphasized the fact that confirmation of the report is not a definite announcement of the new line.

"Though the new car has been under experimentation and test since last November, it will not be announced and will not be ready for distribution before January 1, 1925," Haan said.

By declaring that the manufacturing company will not discontinue its present four cylinder models, Haan also stamped as without foundation rumors that the company would cease to make four-cylinder models.

"The new car is being built for a different market and to round out the company's line," Haan said, adding that "officials of the company expect the present Hupmobile to continue the bulk of the company's sales."

"The straight line eight could be brought out sooner, but the company's recognized policy is that every major change must withstand at least a year's test before being placed on the market," Haan continued. "It is only through such precautions that the owner can be protected against performance mistakes that any factory should eliminate before placing an automobile on production."

Prices and complete description of the new models have not been made available and will not be until near the end of the year, it was said.

Makes Fast Trip To Dunsmuir in Sturdy Chandler

Declaring that he is driving the best car he ever owned, A. V. Herr, former auto dealer here, today had written Fred Medberry, local distributor of the Chandler.

Dunsmuir, California, that he had driven his Chandler from Santa Ana to Dunsmuir in two days. Dunsmuir is near Shasta Springs, and not far from the Oregon line.

Herr is en route on a tour to Oregon and Washington.

"I left Santa Ana Wednesday morning and arrived in Dunsmuir Thursday evening in time for dinner," writes Herr. "Stopped two hours in Sacramento to visit the capitol. The highway is undergoing repair between Redding and Dunsmuir—and you know what that means."

SHIN PLUGS SKULL; MAN TALKS AGAIN

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Aug. 16.—The successful performance of two unusual operations in which a section of a man's shinbone was used to fill a hole in his skull, with the subsequent recovery of his speech, was announced at the Ann May hospital.

The patient, John Hansen, 45, of Manassquan, a year ago was struck on the head by a policeman in arresting him. A section of Hansen's fractured skull as large as a half-dollar piece was removed last October, after the injury had caused him to lose his speech. Following this Hansen partially recovered, but Dr. B. H. Garrison of Red Bank, who performed the operation, decided that pressure on the spot was preventing complete recovery. Last week the section of shinbone and a section of fat tissue from Hansen's abdomen were grafted into the hole.

Today the hospital announced the operation successful. Hansen's power of speech having been entirely restored, except for a slight lisp.

WAVES GOODBYE TO PALS; AUTO HIT BY TRAIN

After he had stopped to talk to friends near a railway crossing and had hidden them farewell—possibly a final one—Carl Finley, 17 years old, of Placentia, suffered a fractured skull and other injuries that proved critical at 7 a. m. today when the car he drove in front of a fast-moving freight train there was completely demolished.

The automobile, a small touring car owned by the youth's father, I. G. Harris, a blacksmith working on the Morse lease, was dragged 100 feet from the Melrose-street crossing there before the train could be stopped. Young Finley's unconscious form was found fifty feet away.

His mother, but a few blocks away, rushed to his side and a physician gave first-aid treatment until he could be removed to a Fullerton hospital.

Witnesses stated that the youth stopped on the south side of the tracks to talk to some friends, and telling them goodbye, he drove directly in front of the rapidly-moving train. The tracks are obscured in both directions by packing houses. Although the warning bell was ringing, witnesses declared the boy may not have heard it, they declared.

ASK CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE PAINT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Congress has been asked by a special committee appointed by the engineering foundation to appropriate $45,000 for the purpose of conducting an impartial and noncommercial investigation into the character and uses of paint by the Forest Products laboratory. According to the foundation there is no authoritative, independent or disinterested knowledge of the general problems involved and how best to solve them with due regard to the various climatic conditions prevailing through the country. Just how vital this matter is can be gathered from the fact that we spend about $456,000,000 annually for paint, and that the value of housing property alone to which it is applied is estimated at $45,000,000,000. The life of a well built wooden house, it is asserted, can be lengthened anywhere from 100 to 200 years by the use of the proper kind of paint.

Judge Wants to See Man Before Bride is 'Freed'

Whether Monica Flores, Anaheim Mexican girl, is granted an annulment of her marriage to S. Flores, whom she accused of abducting her and luring her into a marriage ceremony by taking advantage of her ignorance of the law, today depended upon a judge's interview with the man in the case.

Mrs. Flores' case came before Judge F. C. Drumm here in the superior court late yesterday and after hearing her story, the court continued the matter for one week and ordered that summons be issued to Flores and his brother, to be in court at that time.

"I want to see what he has to say about this matter," Judge Drumm said.

Mrs. Flores said Flores had offered her a ride in his car one day, and when she accepted he drove to Riverside, refusing to let her leave the car, she alleged. Arrived there, he told her that, having gone that far, she could not legally turn back and must proceed with the ceremony.

KING'S SON IN BABOON HUT.
LONDON, Aug. 16.—It was no credit to the government of West Africa to allow an African king's son to be shown like a baboon in a hut at the British empire exhibition, said the Rev. J. B. Purvis, a former missionary at Durham diocesan conference.

JAIL DRIVER AS SISTERS HURT IN COLLISION

Four persons today were being treated at the county hospital for injuries and three automobiles and a motor truck were badly damaged as the result of two traffic accidents last night. One of the injured drivers was removed from the hospital to the county jail to face charges of reckless driving, and today was held pending payment of $100 fine levied by Justice J. Landell.

The light coupe in which two sisters, Miss Mary E. and Miss Emily S. Frick of 1656 Howard boulevard, Los Angeles, were riding on the state highway a half mile north of the county hospital was struck by a large roadster driven by C. Uyeda, 19, of San Diego. Both cars were wrecked.

The three motorists were rushed to the hospital where it was learned that Miss Mary Frick suffered a lacerated knee and body bruises while her sister sustained a slight concussion of the brain. Uyeda was severely bruised about the body.

After his injuries were treated at the hospital, Uyeda was taken to jail by Captain H. S. Warner who, after investigating the accident, placed charges of reckless driving against the Filipino. The other accident occurred at West Fifth street and Pacific avenue, where the new touring car of Otto M. Dodd of 1661 East First street, driven west on Fifth street by Miss Margaret Shoalwater of Tustin, collided with a truck without lights, which was traveling north on Pacific avenue. The truck was turned completely around while the touring car jumped the street curb and broke down a young cypress tree.

Tiburcio Jimenez, 21, of 1015 Logan street, driver of the truck, sustained severe body bruises. He was taken to the county hospital. Miss Shoalwater admitted to the police who investigated the accident that she had no operator's license.

$800 Gem Theft Suspect Nabbed After 5 Years

Said to have admitted that five years ago he stole a diamond ring valued at $800 from Mrs. F. Spaulding, 3329 First street, Long Beach, Robert Bleakmore, 45 years old, was held in jail today at Seal Beach, following his arrest late yesterday at Los Alamitos, according to a report made by City Marshal J. E. Arnold of the beach city. Bleakmore was to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace G. W. Morrison there today on the burglary charge. The ring was declared to have been stolen at Los Alamitos.

According to a statement said to have been made to Arnold, Bleakmore confessed that he stole the valuable ring after having run short of funds after arriving in California from the east in 1919. The ring was pawned, he was quoted as saying, in Los Angeles, where detectives hired by Mrs. Spaulding took up the trail of the supposed thief.

Leaves Estate Valued At $10,000

Real estate and personal property in Orange, Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties made up a $10,000 estate left by the late Mattie Stewart of Anaheim, who died August 4, according to a petition to probate the will, on file today in the superior court here.

The heirs were named in the petition as J. H. Stewart, the widower, and a son, Lemoyne Stroud of Oklahoma City, Okla.

WOULD QUIET TITLE.
Seeking to quiet title to his property at Huntington Beach, Spencer A. Moore today had filed suit here in the superior court against Henry R. Dabney and other defendants. Attorneys Head, Rutan and Scovel represent the plaintiff.

Follow Thru

IN the strenuous game of polo, or the deliberate game of golf, or the red-blooded game of life—it's not the jerky, halting impact of a half-hearted stroke that counts—but the clean, sturdy, full-powered drive that follows clear through!

This same "FOLLOW THROUGH" quality is important in gasoline. When its power is released in the cylinder, it must not merely "pop" and then quit—it must follow through, putting a mighty, expanding force against the piston head all the way on the downward stroke. That is what gives the motor the maximum power that it is designed to furnish—plenty of reserve on the hills, any amount of speed on the straightaway, any amount of pull when the load is heavy!

VENTURA Gasoline follows through! It is the first, volatile, high gravity run from the still—free from "cracked" kerosene substitutes, clear and clean in appearance. Fill up your tank with VENTURA. Every drop is packed full of "pep" and energy!

TALKS ON DOPE SUNDAY AT THEATER

Juanita Hansen, well known as a motion picture star is doing a stunt that takes more nerve and courage than anything she has ever done in celluloid. She is telling vaudeville audiences her experiences and make no secrets of them.

To many the narcotic menace may seem a remote and impersonal thing—a menace indeed, but something so far removed from them personally as to excite no more apprehension than leprosy in Siam or smallpox in Russia. Miss Hansen will speak at the Yost theater on Sunday.

Whatever human sympathy and civic consciousness may be latent in their cosmos is roused by her story which shows that drug touches all in one way or another; and the suppression of the traffic as well as the cure of the addict is the concern of all.

Miss Hansen makes no attempt to make an act out of her message. She comes upon the stage and in a pleasing manner and voice tells in a straightforward way what the curse of dope means to America and what is going on in almost every city of the United States.

In her offering, Miss Hansen traces her fight with dope from the day she took her first shot in Los Angeles several years ago, down to the present day when she is entirely free from the habit.

Recently, Miss Hansen made a tour of the United States, appearing in every picture theater of importance. While in California Miss Hansen is accompanied by Nick Harris, in every town in which she appears as several threats have been made on her life.

Miss Hansen appears at the theater for only one day.

CATERPILLARS PERIL GREAT PINE FOREST

BRESLAU, Aug. 15.—Thousands of acres of pine forests along the border line between Germany and Poland are in danger of being destroyed by countless millions of caterpillars of the pine tree lappet, moth which have infested the districts in greater numbers than has ever been known, according to German foresters who have appealed to the Berlin government for aid. Tar and various other tried but without success in efforts to exterminate the pest and officials have been considering asking the league of nations for permission to use airplanes and poison gas.

Tar Fails to Check
In the forests where fresh tar has been put about the tree trunks the caterpillars merely overran the tar to such an extent that a covering of the dead caterpillars reached the tree branches and leaves which were soon devoured by the rapacious insects. Experts say the only hope of saving many of Germany's great pine forests would be by the use of poison gas, but they are not even certain that this would work successfully in that this would end to the plague. The officials, however, are eager to try this method as an experiment.

Swing Discusses Boulder Dam at Anaheim Lions Club

ANAHEIM, Aug. 16.—Declaring that the status of the project has changed from one "that is desirable" to a "necessity" and that action might be expected in the opening days of congress, Phil D. Swing, candidate for re-election to congress, addressed the Anaheim Lions' club at their weekly session here yesterday, on his favorite topic, the Boulder dam issue.

Swing declared himself in favor of the Colorado river compact, which all of the states concerned, with the exception of Arizona, have signed. If the compact is not approved, its substance will be written into the coming bill in congress, Swing asserted.

TEUTON STATES PAY ROYALTY FOR ESTATES

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—Saxony and Brunswick are the first German states to finally conclude settlements with their royal houses. Brunswick paid off the Kaiser's daughter a few weeks ago, and now Saxony has followed with a cash payment of 300,000 goldmarks plus a yearly pension of 39,000 marks for the next four years for the Wettin house.

Under the Saxon settlement, the state receives as a foundation wonderful art treasures and castles hitherto held by the popular King Friedrich August.

On the other hand August retains his castle Sybilleort in Silesia, where he leads the life of a gentleman farmer and neighbor of the Hohenzollern crown prince Wilhelm.

Five years of wrangling were required to reach a compromise satisfactory to the royal house, to the nationalists and to the communists and socialists. August retains some property, chiefly forest land, and has a lifetime right to hunt on his former domains, though the state stipulates that he shall be careful about the trees where he goes hunting.

When the settlement resolution was finally passed in the Saxon landtag, the communists endeavored vainly to get the royal castle in Dresden converted into a home for ailing children. The house voted down this proposal and passed over the heads of the Reds a vote of thanks to the royal family.

The "Kultur" collection which Saxony receives by the settlement includes the famous green vault with royal jewels which the communist Premier Zeigner last fall wanted to auction off so as to help starving Saxon children. Besides the magnificent array, the Saxon state receives wonderful paintings, copper engravings, sculptures, August's historic museum, his rifle collection, his porcelain, his coins and his natural history museums as well as pre-historical collections, mathematical-physical works, state library and pictures including original and other old masters.

The royal property includes a group of wonderful castles, forests and meadow land and some racing stables.

August is quite happy not to be compelled any longer to bear the royal crown. He was always extremely democratic and mingled with his subjects as a comrade and friend. The fact that he spoke Saxon dialect and the further fact that he had the reputation of being a good two-fisted drinking man, made him with many of his subjects a sort of royal "regular fellow."

SWING BARES TO VOTERS OF COUNTY CHANDLER ASSERTED PLOT TO GRAB RIVER WATER

Publisher's Scheme Would Make Him Sixty Million Dollars, Is Claim

"Read the Los Angeles Times with a discerning eye. Harry Chandler and the multi-millionaires associated with him want to take American water that has fallen on American lands. He wants to take this American water from an American river and carry it upon his Mexican lands, where he has 8000 Chinese coolies reclaiming it. I want to take this American water on to American lands to develop this American land for Americans of today and for Americans yet unborn. If The Times crowd can take this priceless heritage away from us, Harry Chandler of the Los Angeles Times will make fifty or sixty million dollars and this country of ours will have lost that water forever. That's why The Times wants me thrown out of congress."

Pounding home this declaration time and again yesterday and today, Congressman Swing, campaigning in this county, made it perfectly plain to audiences at Garden Grove, Buena Park, Yorba Linda, Placentia and Fullerton yesterday and at Tustin and Costa Mesa this morning that, in his opinion, "the G. O. P. that the Los Angeles Times is concerned about is not the Grand Old Party but Harry Chandler's Grand Old Pocketbook."

To Speak at Orange
Swing will speak this afternoon at Huntington Beach and Seal Beach and tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Plaza at Orange. The meeting at Orange will be held in the open air, and, according to the Orange committee in charge, will draw an attendance from various communities. Swing will discuss his candidacy in its various phases, dealing with the Boulder dam and all-American canal, border closing, his standing as a Republican, the importance of the tariff and other matters that have been raised in this campaign.

It is believed that the meeting at Orange will be the biggest Swing meeting of the three-day tour.

Swing delivered two addresses last night, one to the Placentia Taxpayers' club at the Placentia schoolhouse, at 8 o'clock and the other to the band concert crowd at Fullerton at 9 o'clock.

Because the Los Angeles Times this week has been endeavoring to brand Swing as affiliated with La Follette organizations, Swing dealt at greater length in his Fullerton address upon the question of his loyalty to Coolidge than he has hitherto done.

Again Scores Times

"By what authority has the Los Angeles Times the right to read me out of the party?" demanded Swing. "None at all except its desire to damage me as much as it can, regardless of the truth, in this campaign. The Times does not want me in congress because I have pledged myself, and I now pledge myself anew, to fight for the American people as against the Harry Chandler Mexican interests. So long as I have a voice, or a vote or influence I'll fight for the Boulder dam and the all-American canal. The government made the plan for the all-American canal. The Times calls it the Swing plan. It's not. The plan was made by government reclamation engineers, and their recommendation is that the canal be built all of it upon American soil for the reclamation of a million acres of land on this side of the border."

Swing read letters of "best wishes for success" from Congressman Longworth, Republican floor leader of the House of Representatives, and Congressman Vestal, Republican whip, two foremost party leaders in the house; letters from C. C. Teague, the president of the League of Coolidge Republican clubs of Southern California, and from S. C. Evans, who presided at the organization of that league; a letter from Secretary Slomp, of the White House.

Leaves Five To Judge
"I'll leave my party standing to these men—Longworth, Slomp, Vestal, Teague and Evans—and in fairness I ask you to listen to them rather than to the selfish Los Angeles Times."

Dr. Wickert introduced Swing at the Fullerton meeting. Tomorrow morning Congressman Swing will speak at a church at Arlington and tomorrow night at the First Methodist church at Anaheim. He will return to San Diego early Monday morning.

Anaheim Lions Back Swing, Boulder Dam

Following a presentation of the Boulder dam and all-American canal project at the Anaheim Lions' club meeting yesterday, by Congressman Phil D. Swing, a motion was made, and carried, "that the Anaheim Lions' club get back of the project and get back of Congressman Phil D. Swing."

Swing had explained the project in detail, not dealing with the political aspects as they appear in his campaign for re-election. He was introduced to the Anaheim Lions by J. C. Wallace, a Santa Ana Lion.

The motion to get back of the project and Congressman Swing was carried unanimously.

Imperial Valley Legion Chieftain Boosts Dam Plan

That thousands of former service men will benefit by the building of the Boulder dam and all-American canal, as sponsored by Congressman Phil D. Swing, candidate for re-election, was the message brought to Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, at its monthly meeting, held this week, by Capt. Elmer Heald, commander of the Imperial Valley legion council, who was the principal speaker.

"And when I say that our boys will benefit by the building of the canal on American soil, I am not talking politics; I am talking business," he stated.

Congressman Swing was a visitor with the local post. Discussion concerning the building of an addition to the American Legion home, on North Birch street, was again brought up at the meeting, but, it was stated, no definite steps were taken toward beginning the work. Several pledges for contributions were made.

Straw Votes Back Coolidge, Swing

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 16.—Straw votes taken at meetings of Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs this week indicate President Coolidge and Congressman Swing will be big favorites in the primary election.

The combined vote of the clubs for president was Coolidge 92, Davis 26 and La Follette 10. Vote for congressman was Swing 154 and Sample 5.

Similar votes taken in Redlands at one service club showed Coolidge 21, Davis 5, La Follette 2, Swing 25, Sample 3.

NATURE MUSEUM IN YOSEMITE PLANNED

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Aug. 14.—A gift of $75,000 for the construction, equipment, maintenance of a museum in the Yosemite park has been received from the Laura Spellman Rockefeller memorial foundation of New York.

The news was officially communicated today to Superintendent W. B. Lewis by Acting Director Demaray from headquarters of the National Park service in Washington. D. C. Mr. Demaray's telegram follows:

"Laura Spellman Rockefeller appropriated July 11 $75,000 for the construction, equipment and maintenance for period of three years of museum building. Fifty thousand for building, $10,000 for equipment and furnishing, $10,500 for personnel for three years and $5000 for expenses committee on museums. Committee will send Dr. Dumps to park this summer to study range of exhibits."

The gift is the consummation of years of work and means that Yosemite strengthens its leadership in educational work and that this national forest will probably become one of the foremost places in all the world for popular natural history study.

The new museum will not only house exhibits, but will be headquarters for the Nature Guide service; for lectures under the auspices of the extension division of the University of California and for all other free educational activities provided for park visitors.

A site for the new museum has been provided in the new Yosemite village, which is beginning to go up on the north side of Yosemite valley, about a mile distant from the present town. In the new museum will be placed exhibits that have been gathered during the past four years a collection that is unequalled in the country—which are now housed in the old Chris Jorgenson cottage. Park officials have long been anxious to get a fireproof building where there would be no danger of losing exhibits that never could be replaced.

Superintendent Lewis said today that every effort would be made to get the museum up as soon as possible, not only for the benefit of the 1925 visitors but for the protection of the collection already on hand. Preliminary plans for the building were made some months ago, but until Dr. Dumps arrives no definite date for starting work can be set.

LASH - SCARRED MATRON SUES 3 WOMEN

ALEXANDRIA, La., Aug. 13.—A suit demanding $75,000 damages filed in the courts here, brought to light the details of how a pretty woman was overpowered and flogged by three other women.

The complaint was filed by Mrs. Lillian Bonnette, charming young married woman, against three Alexandria women, whose names are familiar in social circles of the state. They are Mrs. Gertrude D. Ball, wife of John Ball, wealthy merchant; Mrs. Amelia Ball Jordan, daughter of Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. Lessie Hatchett, Grand jury indictments for the assault have already been returned in a criminal action.

Mrs. Bonnette was accused by the three women of being too friendly with Mr. Ball. According to Mrs. Bonnette's sensational story, she was kidnapped by them, whipped and stripped of her clothing. After the punishment had been inflicted she was thrown, nude, from the automobile in front of the Ball home, and Mr. Ball was called out and told, "Now look at your sweetie!"

Tells of Lashing

Here is Mrs. Bonnette's story as related to District Attorney Dear. "It was in my home just outside of Pineville, recovering from the effects of an operation April 25, when, at about 3:30 p. m. a knock came to my door. When I opened it, I saw Mrs. John Ball, her daughter, Mrs. Amelia Ball Jordan, and Mrs. Lessie Hatchett on the front porch.

"They did not enter my house, but remained on the porch. Suddenly the three women threw themselves upon me, beat me with their fists, pulled my hair, and scratched my face. They carried me to their automobile and after binding my hands tied a handkerchief over my mouth.

"My two children started crying for help and I could hear their cries after I was thrust into the car. The car which was driven by Mrs. Ball's daughter, went at a very rapid speed, and when it stopped I was dragged from the machine and forced into Piney woods.

"The women tore my kimono and nightgown into shreds, leaving me nude. They took turns in lashing me with a great raw hide quirt, bringing the blood at every stroke. Gagged by the handkerchief, I was unable to cry out.

Beaten Unconscious

"I fell to the ground, but this did not stop the fiends who were beating me. All that happened I do not know, for under the torture consciousness left me and I must have suffered other indignities of a most revolting nature.

"How long I was unconscious I do not know, but when I came back to my half-numbed senses I was thrown into the bottom of the car and driven to the Ball home.

"In full view of the house and while Mrs. Ball and her daughter were shouting to Ball to come out and see 'his sweetie' the three resumed their assault."

BOY REVEALED AS FLAPPER 'RAFFLES'

JANESVILLE, Wis., Aug. 11.—She certainly was a "stunner" and the police almost apologized when they arrested her as a suspect in connection with a series of thefts.

Her big picture hat was of the latest Parisian model, her summer dress was neat and her "undies" and other things were real silk. Then a clumsy policeman happened to bump against her and a wig fell to the floor.

She wasn't a "she" at all, but Robert Tigheymann, son of a prominent motor plant official here and a popular high school student.

"Yes, I've been taking things," the boy is alleged to have admitted. "I just did it for a 'kick.'"

For the last six months Janesville police have been baffled by a female Raffles who has preyed upon the fashionable Benton avenue district.

Hardly a day has passed without a report of the disappearance of various articles of feminine wear. In some cases the marauder has been seen peeping into the windows of homes.

Burbank to Aid in Legion Plan For Planting of Trees

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—Luther Burbank, Santa Rosa plant wizard, has notified the American Legion officials in this city of his willingness to furnish elm trees for planting along the Victory highway, the coast to coast roadway commemorating the services of the men and women who participated in the World War.

The Burbank elm is of a new species which the California wizard has originated and is especially fitted by its hardness and method of growth for the office of bordering the roads.

American Legion posts throughout the country are co-operating with the plan under the Legion initiative, Kansas post of the Legion having recently planted trees along the Victory highway in that state.

Coroner Charles D. Brown here today issued a death certificate for Arthur J. Comerford, 24, of Los Angeles, and was prepared to issue another certificate for Frank B. Moore, 26, also of Los Angeles, when the latter's body is given up by the ocean in the vicinity of Seal Beach where late yesterday both men were drowned while their wives sat on the beach amused by what they thought were fake cries for help.

When the two women finally realized their husbands were in danger they sought aid. A man who ran into the ocean to rescue the drowning pair, stepped on a stingray which injured his foot so that he could not proceed. By the time others arrived Comerford and Moore had disappeared.

Two unidentified boys succeeded in bringing ashore the body of Comerford. The pulmotor of the Long Beach fire department was used for an hour and a half without success. Comerford's body then was taken to the J. J. Mottell undertaking establishment in Long Beach.

While a search was being made for Moore's body today, the coroner issued one death certificate and secured signed statements from persons who had witnessed the drownings.

Comerford was a motorman and Moore a conductor of the Los Angeles railway. Yesterday was their "day off" and with their wives had gone to Seal Beach for recreation. None of the party could swim, but the two men ventured out to a raft which capsized when struck by a heavy breaker. A rip tide carried them back into deep water.

Proved JEWETT "ONE BILLION MILES BEYOND EXPERIMENT"

Announcing the Jewett with New Colors and Balloon Tire Comfort

NO need to ask will Jewett serve well—a billion miles' service has proved it for you!

Jewett's Paige-built, 50 h.p. motor is large—20% to 40% larger than usual in cars its size. At slow car speed, Jewett's motor pulls easily through mud, sand, and uphill in high. It is not strained or overtaxed, because it is of ample size. So it stands up wonderfully.

Jewett is extra strong in every part. It weighs 2805 pounds—200 to 400 pounds more than comparable cars. Extra deep frame; unusually long springs; heavy duty axles. These extra pounds mean longer life.

Now, Lotus Blue bodies with crimson stripings and Autumn Green bodies with orange stripings give Jewett new beauty.

And with balloon tires the always comfortable Jewett now rides more comfortable than ever.

There is a Billion Mile Jewett in its bright new dress in our showrooms. Come in and see it. 1924-J

YOST—"Youth for Sale."

LAGUNA BEACH LOCATION OF "THE STORM DAUGHTER"

Laguna Beach, one of the most picturesque spots on the California coast, and known the world over to artists because of its scenic beauty, was made use of in some of the scenes of "The Storm Daughter," which closes tonight at Walker's.

Tom Santschi, who has the leading male part, will be well and favorably recalled by those who enjoyed his "Thundering Dawn," also a Universal Jewel. In "The Storm Daughter," which stars Priscilla Dean Santschi takes the part of a sea captain of the old hell-ship days. Most of the scenes in the picture were filmed on a real vessel, out at sea.

"YOUTH FOR SALE" SHOWS AT YOST SUNDAY

Back stage scenes, always full of fascination and entertainment for the theater-goer, form an important sequence in C. C. Burr's latest special production, "Youth for Sale," which is an adaptation of Iola Forester's story "The Grey Path," featured in Ainslee's Magazine and which plays at the Yost theater tonight.

Connie Sutton, played by Sigrid Holmquist, boards at the Malloy home, presided over by her chum, Mary's mother. The two girls are employed at the same department store. It happens that through a misunderstanding, Connie is discharged and she recalls that another of the Malloy boarders, George Archibald, a chorus man, had often promised her an introduction to the stage manager.

Connie reminds Archibald of his promise and it is not long before the erstwhile shop-girl dons a midday-bouffant and bloomers for chorus rehearsal. Sixteen dancing girls were engaged for these rehearsal and dressing room scenes. For the making of the stage rehearsal sequence the Burr organization transported their lighting system from the Glendale, Long Island, studio to the Shubert-Riviera Theater, at Broadway and 97th street, New York City. On this broad stage with high-intensity sun-lights trained upon them, the dancing girls went through the regulation chorus routine. Harold Poshay, remembered for his work with the famous Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Drew, appeared as stage manager.

The dressing room scenes were staged in replica of those at the Riviera built at the Burr studio. Those in the theater were too small to permit the installation of lights and allow sufficient room for setting up the motion picture camera for long-shots.

Miss Holmquist acquits herself very well as a merry maiden of the prancing chorus in this highly entertaining C. C. Burr picture.

"FOR SALE" OPENS SUNDAY AT THE WEST END

Should a girl sacrifice herself on the altar for love at the bidding of her parents?

Which is the stronger—a girl's duty to herself and the man she loves—or the duty to her parents?

These are the questions answered in "For Sale," the startling First National picture of American society life, which opens at the West End theater tonight. "For Sale," a story by Earl Hudson, treats of a powerfully dramatic chapter in the life of a modern society girl who is virtually placed on the auction block by her parents to be sold as a wife to the highest bidder, in order that they may still retain their high social position.

The picture is in reality a page of true life, dealing as it does with a situation now existing—an asset to be bartered and sold to the highest bidder, in order that they may still retain their high social position. Many society girls find that their husbands are "picked" for them by parents, who see in the marriage a combination of two mighty fortunes or as in the case of "For Sale," the marrying of a daughter by a family which feels that it is falling from social power.

In "For Sale" the principal character, that of Eleanor Bates, a victim of her parents' selfishness, is played by Claire Windsor, one of the screen's most famous beauties. Replete with a number of highly dramatic situations the picture play offers to this talented young actress still another big opportunity to prove her versatile talent.

The cast opposite her—in the role of the young American who loved and almost lost—is Robert Ellis, another screen leader whose recent work for the films has classed him among the few movie top-notchers.

One of the most interesting figures in the play is the character of "Joseph Hudley," a social climber who endeavors to use his wealth to "buy" the girl. This part is most ably played by Adolphe Menjou, of "Woman of Paris" fame.

The remainder of the imposing cast of "For Sale," includes such film luminaries as Tully Marshall, Mary Carr, Vera Reynolds, John Patrick, Phillips Smalley, Frank Elliott, Jean Vachon, Marga La Rubia and many others.

GIRL'S LOVE SACRIFICED FOR FASHION

The theme of "For Sale," which shows at the Yost theater tonight, is—should a daughter be sacrificed at the altar of love to save her family their social position? This was handled with extreme delicacy and acted with sincerity by a splendid cast.

Claire Windsor is charming as Eleanor Bates, whose battle between love and duty to parents almost ruins her life. Adolphe Menjou takes a part that is finer and more likeable than any he has ever had. The role demands unusual insight to the masculine mind, a knowledge of its reactions to an awakening love, and a sense of the inner struggle in all sincere parvenus.

Mary Carr was a distinct surprise as the snobbish, selfish society matron. One has grown so accustomed to seeing her in the habiliments of poverty that it was at first a shock and then a pleasure, because she looks well and does her work to perfection. We should like to see her in more such roles. Opposite Mrs. Carr is Jim Bridger of "The Covered Wagon," Tully Marshall, and that actor lends his experiences and sincerity to one of the best performances in picture.

Robert Ellis has ample opportunity to look the hero in the early sequences and some splendid acting in the Latin Quarter incident, which gives the picture some of its color.

The photography and settings are excellent. The balance of the cast includes John Patrick, Vera Reynolds, Christine Mayo, Phillips Smalley, George Irving, Frank Elliott, Jule Power, Lou Payne, Jean Vachon, Finch Smiles, and Marga La Rubia.

"WHERE IS THIS WEST" AT WALKER'S SUNDAY.

The settings for Jack Hoxie's latest Western starring vehicle shifts from a small Middle West town to a Western cattle ranch and the vocation of the star changes from that of a milkman to a rancher.

The Universal cowboy star will be seen in one of the fastest action plays in which he has yet appeared, in "Where Is This West?" which comes Sunday to the Walker theater.

It is a satirical comedy drama, but shows the adventures of a poor milkman who becomes joint owner with a waitress of a large Western cattle ranch. His life is drab enough before he starts West, but when he gets to the little Western hamlet, near which his ranch is located, he has more adventures than were accorded Daniel Boone.

A strong cast supports the star, including Mary Philbin, Universal's latest "find" as an emotional actress, who has the feminine lead in the play.

MELODRAMA OPENS MONDAY AT WALKER THEATER.

Claire Windsor, Goldenwyn screen beauty, is one film actress at least who has confidence in the opinions of reviewers, and attempts to follow out their suggestions. Miss Windsor reads newspapers and magazine reviews of all the pictures in which she appears and strives to better her future performance by heeding the criticisms and advice of the critics.

The beautiful actress will be seen in the title role of "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," Goldenwyn's film version of Owen Davis' old melodrama, when it is shown at Walker's theater for four days, beginning Monday.

"MARRIAGE MORALS" AT YOST MONDAY.

In "Marriage Morals," which opens Monday at the Yost theater, one is treated to the unusual spectacle of witnessing a beauty being courted by a rich man and a poor man, in which the rich man proves not to be the yellow dog that the possession of gold customarily makes of a man—in the movies—and the poor man turns out to be a very poor specimen of a man when put to the acid test of standing prosperity.

With which auspicious start, Will Nigh, gifted author-director, unfolds on the screen a domestic drama of divergent viewpoints as original and interesting as are the aforesaid principal protagonists.

Tom Moore, who plays the rich man, wins Ann Forrest, the previous specified beauty, from Ben Hendricks Jr., the doubly poor unsuccessful suitor.

Tom, having won his bride, refuses to take matrimony seriously, having "Marriage Morals" peculiar to a certain fast group of the smart set.

The story is thoroughly interesting, it held us to the final fade-out, which we refuse to divulge; the direction is superb, to be expected of Will Nigh, and the cast really deserving of the caption "all-star."

Tom Moore and Ann Forrest are the leads, ably supported by Edmund Breese, Florence Billings, Harry T. Morey, Shannon Day, Tom Lewis, John Goldworthy, Little Russell Griffin, Charles Craig, and "Mickey" Bennett.

Pasadena Driver Wins Fight Over Speeding Charge

A court judgment of "not guilty" left A. T. Merriam, Pasadena motorist, with his bankroll intact to day, following his trial before Justice Jack Landell here on a charge of cutting in.

Merriam, who was arrested by State Officer Walter Meyer on Newport boulevard, July 22, was defended by his father, J. H. Merriam, Pasadena attorney. The trial was concluded late yesterday, the court finding in Merriam's favor.

New Cattle Law Is Drafted By County Dairymen

An ordinance much on the same order as ordinances which have been passed by Los Angeles and Riverside counties, governing the shipments of cattle into Orange county was drawn up and approved by a committee representing Orange county dairymen, at a meeting held late yesterday with District Attorney A. P. Nelson. The committee of dairymen were: W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, D. E. Huff, Dean Johnson and J. T. Raitt.

The ordinance was drawn for the purpose of protecting Orange county cattle against tuberculosis and other cattle disease that might be brought into the county through new herds being shipped in, it was stated, and calls for rigid examination of all cattle brought into the county for any purpose.

The ordinance will be presented to the county board of supervisors, Tuesday, for consideration and probable passage, it was said.

Grants Writ to Release Suspect

Joe Brusca of Orange had regained his liberty today after a brief sojourn in the county jail here, where he was sentenced to remain sixty days for violation of a liquor ordinance at Orange. Judge F. C. Drumm, in Department 3 of the superior court, granted a writ of habeas corpus late yesterday for Brusca's release, on the ground that the Orange recorder's court did not have authority to pronounce a jail sentence for a first liquor offense.

Desertion Plea Wins Man Decree

Philip F. Schiffer of Anaheim today was in possession of an interlocutory decree of divorce from his wife, Angeline, granted by Judge Z. B. West in the superior court here on grounds of desertion. Schiffer's case was heard late yesterday.

ONE TUBE SET GETS ENGLAND

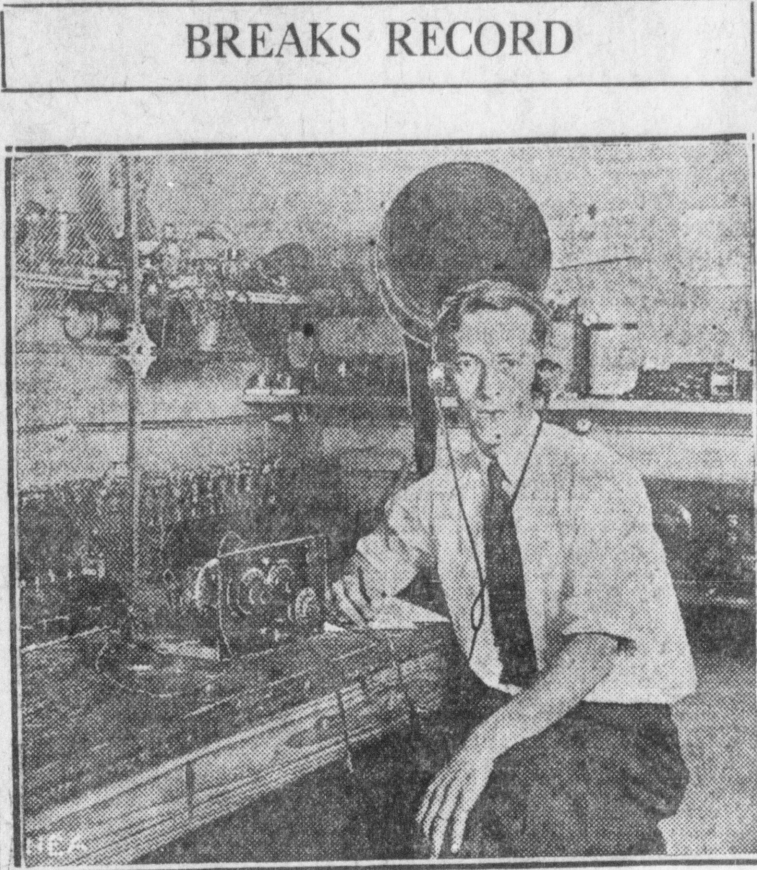

CHICAGO TO ENGLAND ON LONE TUBE!

By NEA Service
CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—E. T. Flewelling, famous radio engineer, announces he has succeeded in hearing Poldhu, England, on a single tube!

This remarkable achievement is made even more so by the knowledge that signals were heard at the distance of 3500 miles with a loop as antenna.

According to Flewelling, the receiver used was the famous super-regenerative circuit invented by him. The station heard was 2YT, which was said to have been using Marconi's new "direct ray" transmission system, on 94 meters, when its broadcast signals were heard.

"It is but a demonstration of what can be done in radio," is Flewelling's comment. "Very soon, by next winter perhaps, you will find such reception common on better made sets. The short wave and direct transmission are part of the secret. Sensitive sets, well designed, are another factor."

BREAKS RECORD

HOW TO SPEAK BY RADIO

Speaking to a microphone is an art distinct from all other forms of public speaking, avers Wheeler McMillen, associate editor of Farm and Fireside, who has tried it.

"The resonant quality of voice plays a big part through the microphone," says McMillen, "but the resonance is only half the secret of effective broadcasting. Some voices, gifted with a clear, sharp, vibrating quality, are changed by the microphone to a series of incoherent blurs."

For effective broadcasting, he adds, use short sentences made of simple words. "If long sentences are used, make them compound. The beginning and ending of a paragraph should be made of short, pithy sentences packed with thought."

"A monosyllable with a long vowel is harder to pronounce sharply than a syllable with a short vowel. Listeners in cannot see the periods by radio—the speaker must make them evident."

"The sentence ending must never be ragged. Words are clearest and most easily pronounced that end in sharp consonants."
